

SCINTIA

Online Peer-reviewed Multidisciplinary Journal

[Published by Netaji Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya]

FOREWORD

The first volume of SCINTIA - a peer reviewed multi-disciplinary journal of Netaji Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya is being published online with eight articles. The articles encompass a vast canvas covering areas of science, literature, social science and performing arts among others. It also has articles pertaining to new genre like cultural and area studies. The journal seeks to promote original research work in bilingual mode. I believe that the volume will leave deep imprint on study of the subjects that have been dealt with in this issue.

Scholars from the College as well as from outside have enriched the volume. Peers from various parts of the country and outside have helped us to maintain a desired standard in publishing through their inputs. I remain indebted to all of them. I am also thankful to the editor of this volume, Smt. Anwesh Dasgupta and her editorial board for the effort they have taken to publish this issue. I earnestly look forward to its success and to publication of future volumes in near future.
